REQUIREMENTS (SUBJECTS THAT ARE ASSUMED TO BE KNOWN)

Accounting

The subject is closely related to Accounting Research, students may consider taking that course before this one.

OBJECTIVES

A student that has successfully completed this class should

- Understand the information contained in the financial statements of a company.
- Understand the role of corporate governance and auditing in capital markets.
- Be able to read and understand a research paper on financial accounting, corporate governance and auditing.
- Be familiar with the different research lines in financial accounting, corporate governance and auditing.

DESCRIPTION OF CONTENTS: PROGRAMME

The focus of the course is the analysis of the different research lines in corporate governance and auditing, with special emphasis on their links with financial accounting.

The class is structured around the following key topics, which will be covered with a mix of lectures (by the instructor), readings and class participation.

- Topic 1. Accounting, corporate governance and auditing
- Topic 2. Corporate boards and committees
- Topic 3. Auditing and monitoring
- Topic 4. Regulation and enforcement
- Topic 5. Managerial incentives and compensation
- Topic 6. Market for corporate control and investors' activism
- ... and the international evidence on these issues

Readings

The course is fundamentally article-based. Students are encouraged to read the latest issues of top accounting and finance journals.

For each of the topics covered in the course, there is a list of recommended papers that will be discussed in class. All books and papers are listed below. Mandatory readings are marked with an asterisk (*), and signify that these papers will be discussed in detail in class. This means students must be sure they understand the details of the research question asked, the hypotheses formulated, the tests performed, and how to interpret the findings.
