This works implicates the student on communication actions which are carried out in a clear social context and which end in measurable production and result.

A2 Level: It is acquired when the student is able to understand sentences and expressions whose use is frequent, and they are related to personal experience areas which are relevant for it (basic information about itself and its family, shopping, interesting places, jobs, etc.); when it knows how to communicate by the time of accomplishing simple and daily works which don't require more than easy and direct exchanges of information about unknown or uncommon issues, and when it knows how to describe, in simple and plain words, aspects of its past and its surroundings, as well as issues related to its immediate needs.
