OBJECTIVES

This course tries to propose the accomplishment of a contextual and polyhedric analysis of the system of Social Protection in Spain as social reality subordinated to economic conditions but also to the preponderant ideologies (philosophical, or political ones) from a perspective of gender. Because the mutations in the protection system demonstrate with special gravity respect of women, specially the workers. This analysis has to be articulated from a static perspective of the current situation today, but also from a dynamic perspective, for what one proposes the observation of his historical evolution. And all this, in last term it places in a juridical orbit, that of the phenomenology of the protection from the Social Law, in his different slopes.

1.-Seek and to select in force materials or historical 2.-To analyze texts (readings, procedure, etc.) 3.-To apprehend, basic concepts understand and to articulate 4.-To interrelate basic concepts, a concrete reality to extrapolate them and conclusions to articulate 5.-To argue rationally, in writing, and orally 6.-To plan and to develop the previous competitions individually and in group.
