In any session, the issue of HR sustainability will be addressed when explaining the goals of each of the HR activities explored.

LEARNING ACTIVITIES AND METHODOLOGY

The course will be based on case studies, readings and faculty presentations. The debate and the exchange of ideas and experiences will be pivotal for the development of the course. Students will be encouraged to bring their insights and thoughts on the material assigned into class discussions. Most issues, cases and problems will not have one "right" answer, though some answers will be more appropriate than others. Thus, being "right" or "wrong" should not be a concern for students when participating in class discussions. All viewpoints will be of interest. Everyone is expected to critically listen to the contributions of fellow students and any disagreement should be explained.

Students are expected to carefully prepare the study material assigned before each session. This is essential to: 1) make the most of each session's contents; 2) make valuable contributions to class discussions; and 3) productively participate in the assignments to be done in class within the student learning teams.

ASSESSMENT SYSTEM

40% CONTINUOUS EVALUATION

60% FINAL EXAM

% end-of-term-examination:	60
% of continuous assessment (assignments, laboratory, practicals...):	40
