DESCRIPTION OF CONTENTS: PROGRAMME

The excellence training that the Master aspires to provide can be completed with external practices, which the students of the Master will develop in Institutions Prestigious public such as the Ombudsman or the Supreme Court, as well as relevant NGOs such as the ILO or the Movement Against Intolerance.

The objective is to approach directly and in depth, with a stay of 100 contact hours, to the type of tasks of the different public institutions and NGOs. It also seeks to ensure that, to the extent that it does not disturb the normal work rhythm of the host institution, the student can participate and contribute to it in relation to their level of preparation and ability, and always under the guidance and supervision of a tutor, who at the same time will be the person in charge of the evaluation.

LEARNING ACTIVITIES AND METHODOLOGY

As a consequence of the peculiarity of its nature, the external practices are adjusted to an academic methodology different from that used in the other subjects included in the master's degree. Each institution welcomes a variable number of students, depending on their availability, and is assigned a person who will be responsible for establishing a program of activities and coordinating the tasks that each student will carry out during the duration of the internship.

ASSESSMENT SYSTEM

The evaluation is carried out by the institution on the work carried out by each student.
