LEARNING ACTIVITIES AND METHODOLOGY

Weekly, the normal activities consist in:

- One hour and a half of theoretical class
- One hour and a half of practice session in which some real conflicts (normally based on Supreme Court Decisions) will be solved. A booklet containing the cases and legal issues to be solved in each class can be found in the moodle.

ASSESSMENT SYSTEM

First call:

1. To evaluate the practical part of the students performance, the teacher will take into account the oral participation in the classes and the making of the required cases (up to 4 points of the final mark).
2. With regard to the theoretical part of the subject, students have to take a multiple choice exam (up to 6 points of the final mark).

Extraordinary call:

The students will obtain their marks through one exam that has two parts: Firstly, a purely theoretical part (multiple choice exam; up to 6 points of the final mark); secondly, a practical exam consisting in a case to be solved in writing (students may use the Spanish civil code to solve the case; up to four points in the final mark). The latter, will be displaced -if this is the case- by a better mark obtained by a student that had followed the course normally and had got a good mark in this practical part of the subject.

% end-of-term-examination:	60
% of continuous assessment (assignments, laboratory, practicals...):	40
