OBJECTIVES

CORE COMPETENCIES

-Possess and understand knowledge that provides a basis or opportunity to be original in the development and/or application of ideas, often in a research context.

Students should be able to apply their acquired knowledge and problem-solving skills in new or unfamiliar environments within broader (or multidisciplinary) contexts related to their area of study.

-Students should be able to integrate knowledge and face the complexity of making judgments based on incomplete or limited information, including reflections on the social and ethical responsibilities linked to the application of their knowledge and judgments.

Students should have the learning skills that will allow them to continue studying in a way that will be largely self-directed or autonomous.

GENERAL COMPETENCIES

-That the students know how to identify the conflict, as well as its specialties and dynamics.

-That the student learns to detect within the spectrum of conflict resolution, which is the most appropriate mechanism to deal with them and how to use it.

-That the students know how to develop a mediation procedure and know its principles, purposes, characteristics and areas.

-That the students know the limits of mediation, and its uses, at national and international level.

SPECIFIC COMPETENCES

-To have the first essential knowledge and tools that facilitate the correct understanding and learning of the subsequent modules.

-Deepening in the field of alternative dispute resolution, in general, and mediation in particular.

-Mastery of each of the techniques used in the different fields, as well as the basic communication skills used in them.

-Acquire theoretical knowledge of civil and commercial mediation and general procedures and tools applied to this type of mediation.

-To learn concepts used in the different methods dealt with.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

-The student, at the end of the module, will have acquired sufficient theoretical and practical basis to be able to face the following modules, focused on more specialized aspects of mediation and other forms of conflict resolution, with the necessary guarantees.

-At the end of the module, the student will have acquired the necessary knowledge about the process of family, neighborhood or community, school and labor mediation, the legislation applicable to each of them, as well as the different techniques and specific communication tools.
