LEARNING ACTIVITIES AND METHODOLOGY

A. LECTURES

Lectures will be given in the theoretical groups and will be devoted to the exposition of the fundamental concepts of the program. An attempt will also be made to establish the guiding thread of the different contents of the course and to give an overall view of the subject. Notwithstanding the above, the practical classes will reinforce and complement the essential points studied in the master classes, either through group work or individual work.

B. PRACTICAL CLASSES

The complementary practical classes will be given in small groups and their content will be as heterogeneous as possible, adapting to the particularities of the specific subject to be studied in depth. Among the different activities programmed in principle (without prejudice to changes, inclusions or exclusions arising from the dynamics of the course) the following are foreseen:

- Assumptions of application of positive law to real cases.
- Analysis and commentaries of jurisprudence.
- Preparation and presentation in class of certain topics.
- Reflection and debate on relevant news.
- Group discussion and debate on controversial issues.
- Viewing of recordings of different judicial processes.
- Complementary activity in the form of a visit to a judicial body or institution (Court, Supreme Court, Constitutional Court, CGPJ, Prosecutor's Office, etc.).

INDIVIDUAL OR GROUP WORK OF THE STUDENT.

ASSESSMENT SYSTEM

% end-of-term-examination:	50
% of continuous assessment (assignments, laboratory, practicals...):	50

A. ORDINARY CALL

A.1. Continuous evaluation

The grade obtained by the student in the continuous evaluation process may represent up to 50% of the final grade. In other words: the grade of the continuous evaluation may reach a maximum of 5 points (50% of the final grade) and will be obtained according to the following scale:

- Study case(s): up to 1.5 points (15%)
- Objective test(s): up to 2 points (20%)
- Practical exercise(s): up to 1.5 points (15%)

In order to obtain 50% of the final grade by means of the continuous evaluation, the student must additionally meet the following conditions:

% end-of-term-examination:	50
% of continuous assessment (assignments, laboratory, practicals...):	50

- To participate necessarily in all of them.
- To be present in the corresponding class in order to participate in the realization, correction and/or delivery of the corresponding activity.
- Obtain a minimum of 2 points (out of a total of 5) in the part of the grade that corresponds to the continuous part.
- Even if the student has obtained a 5 in the continuous grade, s/he must take the final exam and obtain a minimum of 2.5 points out of 5. Otherwise, he/she will be graded in the minutes as "Not presented".

In the event that the student does not meet these requirements (and, therefore, cannot benefit from the continuous evaluation system) or has not followed the continuous evaluation process, s/he may take the final exam in the ordinary exam session with a maximum value of 60% of the total grade of the course (6 points), according to the current academic regulations.

A.2. Final exam in ordinary call

The remaining 50% of the grade (up to 5 points) will depend on the student's performance in the final exam. The exam will have a value of 5 points to which the continuous evaluation grade will be added, as long as the student has passed the exam (2.5 out of 5 or 5 out of 10).

In cases where, after weighting the grades obtained in the continuous assessment activities and the final examination, a student's final grade is greater than or equal to 5 but has not achieved the minimum grade required in the final examination, the final grade that will be reflected in the academic record will not be less than 4 (Fail), unless the grade obtained in the final examination is less than 3, in which case the final grade for the course will not be less than 3 (Fail).

The final exam of the ordinary call will consist of 5 development questions, whose content may deal with any point of the program.

The course will be passed with a 5 out of 10.

B. EXTRAORDINARY CALL

Students who do not pass the subject of Spanish Judicial System in the four-month period in which it is taught, have a new opportunity in an extraordinary call. The grading of the students in the extraordinary call will be adjusted to the following rules:

- If the student followed the continuous evaluation process, the exam will have the same percentage value as in the ordinary call, that is, 50%. To this result will be added the grade of the continuous evaluation (valued on a maximum of 5 points, if s/he has obtained at least 2 points in that part).
- If the student did not follow the continuous evaluation process, s/he will have the right to take an exam with a value of 100% of the total grade of the course.
- Even if the student had followed the continuous evaluation process, s/he will have the right to be graded in the way indicated in section B. when it is more favorable.

The exam will consist of 10 short questions that may deal with the whole program of the subject.

The subject will be passed with a 5 out of 10.
